Life and Light in the Western Region 2014 Photographic Competition "My Place"

The Life and Light in the Western Region Photographic Competition is now in its 16th year and still going strong. Photo entries from this competition are used in Local Land Services Western Region publications and all the winning photos are displayed on our website as well as being framed and displayed at regional events.

This year over 160 photos were received from amateur photographers all over the Western Region and the judges were impressed by the quality and content of the photos submitted.

"This year's theme really brought out the entrants' passion about where they live and their connection to the western landscape." said Anna McCorkle, teacher from Bourke High School.

With the exception of entrants in the Staff and Relatives category who don't receive prizes, winners in each category receive $250.00 while the runner up receives $50.00 making this a very worthwhile competition for budding photographers to consider!

Keep an eye out for the 2015 competition which will open in April and close at the end of July. Be sure to submit as many entries as you like. Details on the Local Land Services Western Region-website.
