

Western Local Land Management Awards

Local Land Services Western Region is inviting landholders and groups who are involved in caring for the environment to enter the 2015 Western Local Landcare Awards.

The winner of each category will receive a trophy and $500 in prize-money and be automatically entered into the NSW Landcare Awards.

The awards recognise the work of individuals, groups or organisations that focus on managing the environment in their part of the Western Local Region.

Everyone from farmers and land managers to professional farming systems groups or natural resource management organisations are eligible. Landcare groups and pest management groups are also encouraged to nominate.

Junior Environmental Care Awards can be awarded to day care centres, primary and secondary schools, youth groups, scout groups or others who have shown initiative and dedication to improving their local landscape and natural resources.

There are five categories in this year's awards:

- Individual land carer
- Innovation in sustainable farm practices
- Innovative community group
- Indigenous land management
- Junior land care team.

Applications are open until 5pm on Monday 20 April

Entry forms can be downloaded from www.western.lls.nsw.gov.au and are available from any Western Local Land Services office or by phoning 1300 795 299.
